Documentation Required

The preapproval process is essentially a mortgage application. This means your lender or loan officer (LO) will want to take a comprehensive look at your finances. You should be prepared to provide information on the following:

1. Employment verification
2. ~~Proof of assets~~
3. Credit history
4. Identification
5. Internal only: Proof of income

Before starting the preapproval process, you'll want the necessary documentation to ensure the process goes smoothly. Here are a few items you should have on your mortgage preapproval checklist.
